Bottin in slim victory over Morris

Gibson new Upland mayor

By Lynne Locke
Councilman George M. Gibson received 60 per cent of the votes cast Tuesday to become Upland's second voter-elected mayor. The rainy day election saw 5,011 voters decide the positions of mayor, council member, city clerk, city treasurer and a ballot measure to improve the fire employees pension plan.

Bill Bottin won a narrow 35-vote victory over Jerry Morris for the council seat Gibson vacated to run for mayor. Upland Fire Department employees lost their bid for an improved retirement system which would have cost Upland residents an additional $63,400 the first year.

Voters returned Upland City Clerk Dee Carpenter to office with a 3-1 margin over challenger Mary Lucas. Incumbent City Treasurer Robert Thrall, who ran unopposed, received 4,435 votes.

The 38 per cent voter turnout was better than the 30 per cent who voted in the last City Council election two years ago. Mrs. Carpenter said the number of registered voters (13,111) and the number who voted is "shocking."

In spite of Upland's growth, she said, voter registration is 2,500 lower than two years ago. She attributed the lower registration to people who lost their registration when they did not vote in the last general election.

In the race for mayor Gibson garnered 2,935 votes. He won in 13 of Upland's 17 precincts. Incumbent Mayor Abner Haldeman took three precincts — two of them by only one vote — and tied in a fourth precinct. Haldeman received 1,988 votes for 40 per cent.

Although Jerry Morris lost the council race by 35 votes, he won in the most precincts — nine to Bottin's seven.

Bottin garnered 1,742 votes for 37 per cent of the ballots cast with Morris following at 1,707 votes (36 per cent). Isabelle Contreras placed a distant third with 839 votes (18 per cent) and Howard K. McGarry placed fourth with 449 votes (9.5 per cent).

In the race for city clerk Dee Carpenter tallied 3,612 votes for 76 per cent and Mary Lucas received 1,167 votes (24 per cent).

The fire retirement system was rejected by 64 per cent of the voters with 3,005 votes against and 1,664 votes in favor of the measure. Approval of the retirement system would have raised the city tax rate 6.2 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

The improved system would have increased the amount of retirement pay for a fire employee and would have corrected inequities in the present system which discriminates against employees who join the department at an early age.

The main objection to the improved system was cost since retirement benefits are geared to salaries and would rise as salaries rise, costing residents more with each salary rise.

Newly elected officials will take their oaths of office 8 p.m. Tuesday at a special City Council meeting for the city clerk to canvass the votes and certify results.

Gibson campaigned on a platform of protecting residents from undesirable zoning and development and had pledged to require "high quality development from the residential, commercial, and industrial standpoint."

Haldeman's campaign emphasized the importance of a balanced budget and of encouraging "desirable industries and businesses to locate in appropriate areas" to broaden Upland's tax base.

Gibson has served three uninterrupted terms on the council including four years as council-designated mayor. His career includes experience in banking, as special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and in plant protection at Kaiser Steel. He also holds a law degree.

Bottin campaigned under the slogan of improving the quality of life in Upland. His major concerns included keeping taxes at reasonable levels, and planning development so residents and land owners "get a fair deal" and so city services are not over-burdened. His supporters included a group of Camp Fire Girls who canvassed precincts on his behalf.

Morris emphasized "holding the line on spending," and suggested spreading the tax burden by developing the city's well-buffered industrial-commercial sections.

PERSIAN STYLE — Persian peddler Ali Hakim (Jack Davis of Upland) greets Laurey (Jackie Harper of Ontario) with a Persian hello during the Chaffey College production of "Oklahoma!" the first musical to use songs and dances as part of the story. Rodgers-Hammerstein musical

'Oklahoma' opens Friday at Chaffey

"Oklahoma!" the first musical to use songs and dances as part of the plot, will be presented by the Chaffey College Theater department 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and March 12-13 in the college theater.

Director Ralph Strane said musicals before "Oklahoma!" were "loosely-woven stories interrupted by songs and dances."

The Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein musical uses such songs as "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'," and "People will Say We're in Love" to reveal the main story of the love between Curly, a cowboy (Kirk Boughner of Norco) and Laurey, a young Oklahoma woman (Jackie Harper of Ontario). The couple's happiness is threatened by Jud, a jealous hired hand (Mike Larkins of Upland).

Another love triangle, revealed through "All er Nothing" and "I Can't Say No," involves Will, Ado

Annie and a Persian peddler (Jack Davis of Upland).

Will is played by James Keltner of Ontario and Bill Korth of Corona; and Ado Annie by Cynthia Eydman of Chino and Darlene Alford of Ontario. Loretta Orcutt of Ontario plays Laurey's Aunt Eller, who typifies the residents of Oklahoma Territory in the early 1900s.

Staff members include, Jack Mason, instrumental music; Joyce Shannon, singing; Mary Gonzales, choreography; Catherine Johnson, costumes, and Gary Skinner, sets.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1.50 for students. Group rates are available. Opening night features a $5 benefit for the Casa de Rancho Cucamonga Historical Society which includes admission and refreshments by candlelight afterwards at the Rains House.

For reservations for all performances and information on the benefit call the box office, 987-1745.

Sculpture on exhibit at Chaffey College

The cast-bronze sculpture of Aldo Casanova and the stainless steel sculpture of Jerome Mahoney will be featured through March 16 at Chaffey College's Rex W. Wignall Museum-Gallery.

"This exhibit will explore the marvelous contrasts between two of California's best sculptors," gallery director James Pahl commented.

Aldo Casanova's "warm-colored bronzes are sensuous, biomorphic abstractions that frequently refer to human anatomy and plant forms. Mahoney's cool-white stainless pieces are, on the other hand, hard-edge interpretations of ancient Egyptian symbols utilizing the visual language and materials of the space age," Pahl said.

Casanova, professor of art at Scripps College since 1966, has received worldwide recognition for his cast-bronze sculpture. After completing his Ph.D. studies in Ohio State University, he was awarded the Rome Prize Fellowship in Sculpture, American Academy in Rome 1958-61, and the position of visiting artist for 1964-66 and 1968-70.

His work is included in many of the country's most prestigious collections, including the San Francisco Museum of Art; UCLA Sculpture Garden; Whitney Museum, New York; and the Joseph Hirshhorn Collection, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.

Mahoney is best known for his monumental sculptures commissioned in the San Diego and Las Vegas areas. His work also is included in numerous public and private collections. The exhibit at Chaffey College will include his most recent work in Heli-arc welded stainless steel.

He graduated from San Jose State University in 1957 with a degree in engineering design. He then spent nine years working as an engineer and industrial designer. During this period he received many awards for his work in developing bioelectronic research instruments. Mahoney enrolled in the Claremont Graduate School and University Center to complete his master of fine arts degree.

Museum hours are noon-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, noon-4 p.m. Friday, and 2-5 p.m. Sunday.

Self-insurance ok'd for city employees

A system of self-insurance to compensate city employees for job-related, long-term disability was approved Monday night by the Upland City Council.

The new system is expected to save the city several thousand dollars in payments on premiums.

The council authorized City Manager Lee Travers to draw up an agreement with Self-Insurance Programs, Inc. to develop and administer the new program. The consultant's fee will be about $2,000.

Under the present system,

Travers told the council, insurance premiums paid by the city are far higher than payments of claims made by city employees.

In 1973-74, the city paid premiums of $15,700, and in 1975-76, the cost will reach $30,000, Travers said. However, the cost of claims paid to city employees is only about one-third of the premiums the city has paid, he added.

The city already has such a program for workers' compensation, Travers said, and has proved financially successful.

MARIONETTE SHOW — The West End Family Service Auxiliary will sponsor two shows by the Bob Baker Marionettes 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Saturday at the Upland High School gym. Along with seven other students, they will perform March 12, 13, 19 and 20 at 8 p.m. in the Montclair High School Auditorium. Tickets are available at the door.

Annual Old Baldy Council drive

Funds sought for scouting

Robert Burwell, chairman of the annual Friends of Scouting finance campaign for the Old Baldy Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced that 53 per cent of their goal has been reached.

Burwell is administrator of Pomona Valley Community hospital.

Also working in the fund raising campaign are Richard McElvany, a partner in McElvany Insurance, Ontario, John B. Atwood of Atwood's Department Store, Upland, and Dick Brownell.

The Friends of Scouting Campaign will continue through March.

The Sunrise District of the Old Baldy Council serves approximately 6,000 boys, with two career scouts and 1,500 volunteers, working in cooperation with churches, PTAs and service clubs in the cities of Ontario, Fontana, Upland, Alta Loma and Cucamonga.

The Old Baldy Council serves approximately 13,000 youths in the area with a total staff of seven career scouts and about 3,000 volunteers.

The council also maintains camping facilities, such as in Holcomb Valley, near Big Bear, where they have a 500 acre facility.

It was reported that it costs $15.94 to provide scouting to one boy for a year. Those wishing to make contributions to the campaign can send checks to the Council Service Center, 120 W. San Jose Ave., Claremont.

starts judo instruction

A new judo class will begin at the West End YMCA, 215 W. C St., Ontario. It will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

The class will be taught by Eric Massingham. Massingham recently moved to California from London, England, where he served with the Royal Air Force. While in the Air Force, he began his training in judo at Singapore at the YMCA there. He traveled all over the world with the air force and formed and taught judo clubs. In 1969, he won the Royal Air Force Maintenance Command Heavyweight and Open Judo Championship.

He was awarded his black belt in 1973 by the Amateur Judo Association of Great Britain and it was confirmed in 1975 by the British Judo Council.

Judo is a form of self-defense, but mainly it is a sport — the only one of the martial arts that is recognized by the Olympic Games as a sport.

Judo gives one mental alertness and physical fitness, and can be great fun and enjoyment if entered into with the right spirit and can be enjoyed by young and old.

Further information is available from the West End YMCA at 986-5847.

Hospital trustee retiring

The San Antonio Community Hospital board of trustees has announced the retirement of William Batchelor from the board. Batchelor was elected to the board in April of 1968. While on the board, he served as chairman of the pension and retirement committee and as a member of the finance committee.

"His input was very valuable to us at San Antonio Community Hospital — based on his long experience in labor relations problems. He will be missed as a working partner by all of us on the board," said Ernest Wagner, board president.

Soroptimist Youth Citizenship Awards Contest winners listed

The 13th annual awarding of the Soroptimist Youth Citizenship Awards Contest took place recently during the meeting of the Soroptimist Club of Ontario held at The Magic Lamp Inn in Cucamonga.

Winners introduced by Gladys Naftel, chairman of the contest, were Elaine Albert of Chaffey High School, first; Denise Cline of Montclair High School, second; and Karen Kleinman of Upland High School and Jennifer Dillon of Ontario High School, runner-ups.

The first place winner received a check for $100, second place received $50 and the other two girls won $25 each. Lucille Woods, president of the club, presented the checks and certificates.

Judges for the contest were Ken McElvaney and John Schessler.

They were guests at the luncheon meeting along with the girls' high school counselors, Andrea Smith of Chaffey High, Marguerite Antonelli of Montclair High, Ron Scott of Upland High and Earle Miller of Ontario High.

In stating her plans for the future, Miss Albert said she has plans to attend Chaffey College to study nursing. She then plans to transfer to Long Beach State University to earn a bachelor's degree in nursing and to minor in modern dance.

Miss Cline said she has been accepted at UC, Riverside, and she plans to major in biology with her career centered on something to do with the environment.

Miss Kleinman has applied to Stanford University and wants to be a clinical psychologist. Miss Dillon has applied to USC and California State University, Los Angeles, and plans to major in either political or social science with her future objective being to teach.

Ruth Wallis, director of District 3 of the Pacific Region of Soroptimists, explained how the contest was judged and how the winners progress into each level of competition. She informed Miss Albert she is among the finalists of District 3, but would not reveal her standing.

Applicants for the contest are chosen for their leadership and dependability in school and community service. Submitted in essay form, each entry is accompanied by three letters of recommendation attesting to the character and the community and school service of the entrant. Entrants also have to submit a statement they have written on their role in the family, the community and as a world citizen.

County denies site approval

County supervisors denied site approval Monday for a drug treatment center in San Antonio Heights outside Upland. They upheld an appeal by residents against the Crossroads program operating in the Mont Vista Lodge.

More than 250 people jammed the supervisors' chambers for the three-hour hearing. Most opposed site approval for the facility.

The vote by county supervisors to support the residents' appeal and consequently reject a Jan. 8 approval by the county planning commission was 4-0.

Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell, whose district included the center, was absent. He is recovering from surgery.

The three key issues on which the supervisors heard testimony Monday were the adequacy of the site, access to the site and the possible adverse effect of the facility upon the residential area of San Antonio Heights.

What may have sealed the fate of the Crossroads program in the Mont Vista Lodge was District Attorney James Cramer's action Friday in obtaining a restraining order against Day-Jul Foundation, Inc., operators of the program. The facility was closed down.

Cramer stated the facility had allowed sewage to drain into the public streets, thereby causing an immediate danger to public health and safety.

The Day-Jul Foundation also operates a facility at 1360 W. 20th St., in county territory outside Upland. This facility was not directly affected by the supervisors' action Monday.

Neither the Crossroads operators nor the spokesmen for residents who opposed site approval for the Mont Vista Lodge could be reached for comment this morning.

Admiring their certificates as winners of the Soroptimist Youth Citizenship Awards Contest sponsored by the Soroptimist Club of Ontario are, from the left, Elaine Albert of Chaffey High School, first; Denise Cline of Montclair, second; and Gladys Naftel, chairman of the club's contest. The two runnerups were Karen Kleinman of Upland High School and Jennifer Dillon of Ontario High School. All the girls were honored at a recent luncheon held at the Magic Lamp Inn, Cucamonga. Miss Albert won $100 and Miss Cline won $50, while the runner-ups received $25 each.

Scouts display skills

Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council will hold a bi-centennial extravaganza on March 6 at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona where scouts at each program level will provide a full day's entertainment at their heritage fair.

The event launches GIRL SCOUT WEEK, March 7-13. The amphitheater will be the site for a perpetual performance of skits, melodrama, singing, tableaux and dancing by talented Girl Scouts.

A parade with more than 30 troop entries including floats and marching units depicting important moments in American history will be heralded by Grand Marshal "Minnie Mouse", straight from Disneyland.

More than 200 colorful banners designed by Girl Scouts will be displayed throughout the fairgrounds. Food booths will offer snacks and lunch fare for visitors.

There will be 22 troop camping units at the site with unique displays, including a "monkey bridge," primitive camp set-ups and girl-made chuck boxes. Indian camp set-ups will show an authentic tipi and warrior shields, Chippewa kitchens and beef jerky being made and dried on a lashed frame. Brownies will demonstrate the beginning steps in basic camp skills at their campsites. A repertoire of camp songs are being rehearsed for an evening campfire program by troops that will stay overnight.

Adults and girls who have attended council camps over the years may check the schedule at the Reunion Concourse to renew old acquaintances.

The worldwide service is sponsored by the International Committee for World Day of Prayer which has appointed Church Women United as the official sponsor of the celebration in this country.

The worship service prepared by women in Latin America reflects their concern for 'Education for All of Life.' The narrow bonds surrounding the word 'Education' have been released, and the definition spills out into every area of life," according to a Bonita unit spokesperson. "Dramatic dialogues that are incorporated in the service will have many participants. This will be the 19th year of the ever-widening ecumenical celebration in which Protestant, Catholic and Orthodox women of many races and languages seek to make visible their unity in Christ and to share in an offering that will bring hope and aid to thousands around the globe."

'Listen' magazine for young adults

With a circulation of 180,000 "Listen" magazine is published monthly for high school students and young adults, promoting abstinence from drugs, alcohol, tobacco and other harmful substances, according to a spokesperson for the Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church, which serves San Dimas, La Verne and Walnut.

"Listen" editor Francis

Soper said the purpose of the magazine is to promote clean, healthful living habits that can be as exciting and enticing to young people as the habits which would destroy them. To do this he promotes an editorial mix of first-person narratives, interviews with sports and entertainment figures and the latest research findings on drug abuse.

Contributions still needed

Adventists fly help to Guatemala City

Seventh-day Adventist World Services (SAWS) provided more than $100,000 worth of relief for victims of the Guatemalan earthquake during the first weekend alone, according to a spokesperson for the Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church of Covina, which serves Walnut, San Dimas and La Verne.

SAWS Executive Secretary Howard Burbank reported that $80,000 worth of supplies was flown by chartered jet to Guatemala City Feb. 6. The 50,000-pound cargo included blankets, tents, bandages, wire splints, large kettles and gasoline lanterns. Another plane load of 75 large tents was sent from Shreveport, Louisiana and 125 more from San Francisco.

When Adventist mission

officials began feeding the homeless victims Feb. 7, about 500 people received two meals a day. When the program was fully operating the number of people fed increased to about 5,000, the church spokesperson said.

Dr. Peter Nelson, a San Luis Obispo dentist who was in helping at the nearby Seventh-day Adventist dental clinic in Honduras at the time of the earthquake, worked side by side with Guatemalan rescue workers.

Nelson said he was impressed by the plane loads of supplies delivered one after another from the United States — many of them marked "SAWS."

"I am proud to be an American," Nelson said in a recent report of the earthquake to Covina church members.

Officials from Loma Linda University sent a team of six nurses, three physicians and three medical students to Guatemala City Feb. 8.

SAWS sent more aid to Guatemala, even as the death toll mounted from an estimated 15,000 Feb. 9 to a more recent figure of 20,000. The homeless number in the hundreds of thousands, said the spokesperson. SAWS officials said the earthquake has far overshadowed the devastating Nicaraguan tremor in which 10,000 died.

Inez Ballinger, community service leader for the Covina church, said many extra hours were spent boxing clothing (with special emphasis on blankets and warm sweaters for the cold nights) which are shipped to Watsonville for distribution to needy areas.

Contributions to the relief fund are urgently needed, the spokesperson said. Checks may be sent to: SAWS, Guatemalan Relief Fund, 6840 Eastern Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20012.

Suppers planned

Midweek sacrificial suppers followed by 45-minute Lenten Services have commenced at Christ Lutheran Church, 5500 Francis Ave., Chino. The meal consists of soup and breads in an "Upper Room" setting reminiscent of Christ and the disciples at Jerusalem. The observances start at 6:30 p.m. At the 8:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. service Sunday Dr. A.L. Plueger will speak on "A Study in Graciousness."

Singers return

The Jubilee Singers of Fisk University will make their first appearance in Southern California since 1974 at a concert in Riverside March 6.

The performance of the group will be sponsored by the Inland Area Urban League, The Elites and The Ebony. It begins at 7:30 p.m. in Landis Auditorium, Riverside City College, 4800 Magnolia Ave., Riverside.

The Jubilee Singers have a long history. The current group's predecessors first performed in 1871 at the National Council of Churches convention in Oberlin, Ohio.

Tickets and further information may be obtained in Ontario by contacting Mrs. Clyde Bingham, 984-4566.

Donnelly takes on McVittie

Don Donnelly, president of the Pomona Board of Education, has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination in the 65th Assembly District.

Donnelly and another Pomona Republican, Clyde Stephens, are the only Republicans running for the seat now occupied by William McVittie, who is the only Democrat running.

"I have discussed running for the assembly with numerous voters in the district and have received strong bipartisan support," said Donnelly, a Los Angeles County fireman and employer-labor relations consultant. "Serving in a nonpartisan office has taught me how to listen to and respect the opinions of people with whom I may not agree."

During the course of his campaign, Donnelly said, he will "talk to as many people as possible" and "attempt to propose some meaningful solutions to the varied problems faced by the residents of this district."

"Unemployment, inflation, crime, political reform, taxes, environmental concerns, education, all of these and many more problem areas have come increasingly into focus over the last several years," Donnelly said. "I hope that Assemblyman McVittie will join me in active discussions of solutions to these types of problems."

Donnelly criticized McVittie for raising a large amount of funds prior to the campaign.

"It is unfortunate that McVittie chose to have a major fund-raising event prior to the filing dates of this election," Donnelly said. "It is common knowledge that candidates with much to offer the public in terms of fresh ideas and alternative approaches have backed out of running because of the amount of money that McVittie already has earmarked for his campaign."

Free or reduced price meals for school kids

Due to new federal legislation, the Cucamonga School District is now making available free and reduced price meals for children of unemployed parents.

Any child whose parent or guardian is unemployed is eligible for free or reduced price meals, providing family income during the period of unemployment falls within the income eligibility scale.

In addition, a new eligibility criteria has been established for reduced price meals. The present free lunch and free milk program will still be in effect.

Under the new eligibility criteria, reduced price meals is increased from 175% to 195% above the poverty income level.

Each parent will receive and will be asked to review the new California Eligibility Scale which will establish whether the family is eligible for free or reduced price meals.

Chicano fair planned

In late April, Chicano artists, musicians and dramatists from around Southern California will take part in a local "Bicentennial commemoration of Chicano art"—with a theme of unity among Chicano communities.

The culture festival, to be held April 24-25, is being staged to bring together Mexican-American artists of all ages and youths from a number of communities.

"Our whole theme is unity," said Connie Aguilar, a spokeswoman for the youth committee of the Chicano Unity Council, which is helping to plan the festival.

Local Chicano groups are planning to continue the culture fair festivities through other Mexican-American holidays this year—Cinco de Mayo, during Fourth of July Bicentennial activities and the Sixteenth of September.

In between holidays, works from the festival will be displayed at local schools.

Ultimately, the festival organizers hope the culture festival will lead to a permanent Chicano culture center in the West End.

The goal of all the activities, as outlined in the written plan for the festival, is "community awareness of Chicano culture through art."

"We advocate the renewed immersion of the Chicano people in their own cultural heritage," the Chicano Unity Council plan states.

"This is the first step towards the solution of the social problems Chicanos face today."

A main aim of the festival is to steer Chicano youths away from drugs, gang warfare and crime.

"We're looking at this festival mainly from the standpoint of youth," said Manuel Lucero, a member of the Chaffey College chapter of MECHA (Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlan), which is working with the Chicano Unity Council on the festival planning.

"The festival will give young Chicanos a chance to divert their energies into a positive direction," the plan says.

QUESTION: I received a post card from the city manager with questions to answer on city service in response to my complaint. Are post cards sent to all persons that complain and what happens to the post cards that are returned? B.T.

ANSWER: No. Complaints that are received during a given month are reviewed at the end of the month. From these complaints approximately 75 per cent of the people are sent post cards. Post cards that are returned are received by the community relations coordinator where they are checked in order to help the city analyze our operation and in making continued improvements in service. Post cards and any recommendations are then sent to the city manager for disposition. Post cards are retained for one year.

QUESTION: We understand that shortly the Upland Sister City Association will sponsor a student exchange with Caborca. Can you give us any information on it? S.S. - M.A.

McCartney labelled the poll a "popularity contest" and an attempt by some criminal defense lawyers to get him off the bench.

Aquatics club one year old

MBA was formed one year ago as the result of the disbandment of the Upland Aquatics and Claremont Novice teams, a name change of the Montclair Swim Club to Mt. Baldy Aquatics and the simultaneous merger of the three teams.

Coached by CMC's head swim coach, Tom Grall, assisted by former Olympic Games breaststroker Yoel Kende and Pomona College swim team member Allan Stork, the neophyte team has jelled into a solid group, drawing members from Claremont, Upland, Montclair, Ontario, La Verne, Cucamonga and Pomona.

Leading the MBA contingent was 15-year-old Uplander Jayne Lloyd, who won the gold in four events. A 200 freestyle (2:07.5), 100 free (1:02.6), 100 fly (1:11) and 200 IM (2:36).

Miss Lloyd completed with a third in the 100 breast (1:21.8) and sixth in the 10 back (1:22.5).

Also hailing from Upland, 15-year-old Tim Barry earned first place awards in the A 100 back (1:07.1), 100 fly (1:06.2) and B 200 D (2:25.2).

Barry also captured pair of seconds in the B 20 free (2:01.9) and B 100 free (58.6).

From Montclair, Susi Williams (12) swam to second in the B 200 fre (2:23), third in the B 100 fl (1:18.8) and fifth in the 200 IM (2:46.8).

Rounding out the list of winners in the older age group was 11-year-old Derek Burns of Upland as he captured sixth place with a 31.8 in the B 50 freestyle.

Leading the scrappy 1 and-under age group team was 9-year-old Jennifer Weck as she came away with eight awards for eight swims.

Competing in Class A, the Upland lass outwitted the field in the 200 IM with 2:28.8 and the 100 back
1:24.2; she earned thirds in the 100 and 200 freestyle with 1:15.6 and 2:40.4
fourths in the 100 breast
(1:36.7) and B 50 fly (40.0), plus a pair of fifths in the 50 breast (44.3) and 50 back
(40.5).

Her brother, 8-year-old Steven Weck, garnered a pair of thirds in the 50 free (35.9) and 50 back (42.2), completing with fourth and sixth in the 100 IM (1:33.4 and 100 free (1:22.7), also. A competition.

Turning in another fine performance for the M... team was 9-year-old Chris Ryan. The Upland youngster earned a pair of thirds in the A 50 fly (3:31) and B 100 IM (1:27), fourth in the A 100 b (1:32.1), fifth in the B 50 free (35.3) and sixth in the 50 back with a clocking of 41.1.

Interested swimmers may contact Dolores Weck (982-3430) for AAU team information. Carolyn Easton (987-2) for novice information.

HOLT AND INDIAN HILL — POMONA

Trojanettes lean heavily on Wright

Katy Wright had distinguished basketball credentials in the formative years of the sport at Upland High School and the young lady is continuing her exploits at the University of Southern California.

Miss Wright was high scorer for the Trojanettes against both Cal State-Fullerton and San Diego, hitting 13 and 20 in those two efforts.

And she has been top rebounder in all but three of the games—missing against Cal State-Long Beach, Cal State-Northridge and UCLA.

In 12 games, Katy has hit on 53-of-121 field goal attempts for a 43.8 shooting percentage. And in free throws she is 12-for-19, a 62 per cent figure.

Her 121 rebounds, including a seasonal high 19 against UC Santa Barbara, is 40 more than her closest teammate — Linda Balabuch.

Variety is the secret

Ever since the late 1700's when the Fourth Earl of Sandwich slapped the first slice of meat between two slabs of bread so he could eat without interrupting his card game, the sandwich has been man's go-anywhere, go-anytime best friend.

The portable palate-pleaser can be packed away for school, work and play—or brought right back home again for a backyard picnic.

And infinite variations on the sandwich theme are the creative cook's delight. Everything from fish to eggs to cucumbers to peanut butter has been called a sandwich—some with better results than others.

The only requirement? That two similar objects (like bread, crackers, cake, cheese) enclose a different one (like meat, eggs, fruit, vegetables). Viola! A sandwich.

Stash them away in the back-to-school lunchbox or bring them out for fall's after-football fling. Either way, these you-tote-'em type sandwich surprises will spark the appetite of young and old alike.

In the three recipes given, a salt mixture or regular salt may be used; they can be exchanged measure for measure.

Egg on those shy-er sandwich eaters with these special lunchtime combinations from a salt company: Hearty Chicken Spread on mouth-watering pumpernickel, Chunky Egg Filling on white bread and Peanut Plus, here opened on graham crackers. All are easily portable and quick to make, since the spreads can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated.

Peanut Plus Spread
7 to 8 ounces roasted peanuts in the shell, unsalted

1/2 cup applesauce
4 1/2 teaspoons honey
1/2 teaspoon salt

Shell peanuts and remove skins. Measure one cup. Coarsely chop peanuts in blender. Add remaining ingredients. Blend for just a few seconds to mix ingredients. Spread will be chunky. Makes about 1-1/3 cups.

Chunky Egg Filling
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
3 tablespoons chopped celery

3 tablespoons chopped onion or dry onion flakes
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Combine all ingredients in mixing bowl. Mix gently. Chill for at least 2 hours before serving to let flavors mellow. Use as filling for sandwiches, spread for canapes or as an entree salad. Makes about 1-1/3 cups.

Chicken Spread
1 1/2 cups (1/2 lb.) ground or finely chopped cooked chicken

3 tablespoons finely chopped celery
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion OR 4 1/2 teaspoons dry minced onion

3 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1/4 cup sour cream

2 to 4 tablespoons sweet pickle juice or buttermilk or chicken broth
1/2 teaspoon salt

2 teaspoons tarragon- or garlic-flavored vinegar, optional

In mixing bowl, combine all ingredients. Mix well. Serve as sandwich filling, canape spread or stuffing for tomato. Makes about 1 1/4 cups.

Vanilla

Even though this is an age of science and synthesis, not all of nature's secrets have been discovered.

The flavor of true vanilla has long been the target of food chemists, seeking to reproduce it in the laboratory. So complex is the chemical structure of the pod (bean) of this tropical orchid, however, that we still don't know its total make-up. As a result of this chemical puzzle, man-made vanillas have never been able to duplicate the natural extract of the vanilla bean.

So, a word of advice to the shopper: When you buy "vanilla" ice cream or "vanilla" wafers it's often difficult to tell if you're really getting vanilla. Ingredients lists can be confusing.

Scouting today's a lot more than you think.

Travel Film Series presentation

'The Andes' to be shown

"The Andes" will be the fifth presentation of the 22nd season of the Claremont Travel Film Series with two performances scheduled Friday in Garrison Theater, Claremont.

Thayer Soule will narrate the picture at both the 2 and 8 p.m. showings, which are sponsored as a benefit project for the Pomona College Development Fund.

Soule describes the Andes as the backbone of South America and its most fascinating feature: "From the Caribbean to the Straits of Magellan, they stretch for 4,000 miles, from endless summer to eternal winter. From one end to the other, there is startling variety—tantalizing archeological puzzles, modern cities, wildly colorful markets, strange tribes, and in remote corners, sights which few have seen, although they are easily accessible today."

The showings will begin with the Andes on the west coast of South America, where in Venezuela, they rise steeply from the tropic Caribbean. Next will come cloud-high Caracas, then remote Canaima and the strange lost world country of A. Conan Doyle, followed by Angel Falls.

Traveling south to the central Andes, the armchair travelers will view towering Mount Chimborazo, where the lust for gold led to the murder of the Inca and the toppling of his empire. Long before, other peoples had built great cities along the desert coast. Where did they come from? There are several theories, but very early they were living around sky-high Lake Titicaca.

The film next shows Quito, the capital of Ecuador, where Francisco de Orellana began his expedition of discovery to the Amazon and exquisite churches blaze with gold and colonial streets and houses are seen. Other highlights of this segment will be standing astride the Equator in the Valley of the Volcanoes and watching the Indians of Otavalo enjoy a small fiesta.

Cuenca, the center for southern Ecuador, is the next stopping point, followed by Gualaceo and on to Chordeleg, an almost forgotten valley where handicrafts still flourish, people live to great age and the outside world is far away.

The Lost Inca City of Machu Picchu
...From Thayer Soule's 'The Andes'

Reel II starts off with Peru in the heart of the Andes, followed by a three-hour drive from sea level to Ticio, highest railroad pass on earth at nearly 16,000 feet. On to Cuzco, oldest continuously inhabited city in the new world and capital of the Inca Empire. It is located in a valley at 12,000 feet. Shown will be the great square, laid out by the Incas; stone walls perfectly filled without mortar; the Stone of Twelve Angles; the colonial church of Santo Domingo atop the Inca Temple of the Sun which was ruined by an earthquake, which left the temple walls intact. Other views of the ancient Incan empire will include colonial Cuzco, the great fortress of Sacsahuaman, ramparts of massive boulders, llamas and apacas, Sunday in Pisac, the Urubamba River which the Incas canalized to protect their fields from flooding and a section of the Inca Royal Road which still is in use near Ollantaytambo.

Next comes the tourist train to Machu Picchu station, then a minibus trip up to the ruins and a hike along the Inca road over the mountains and down to the ruins with their plazas, palaces, terraces and temples in a setting of incredible grandeur.

Beyond the eastern cordillera, still in Peru, are the jungles of the Amazon and Iquitos, 2,000 miles from the Atlantic which receives ocean-going freighters. Also included will be the floating city of Belen, so much like the Orient; Yanamono, a trading post in the jungle depths; weird sounds of the forest; and Yagua Indian blowguns which are accurate and deadly.

After viewing Santiago, Chile, and the ski resort of Portillo, on the border of Argentina, the viewers will see the lake country of southern Argentina, Nahuel Huapi and the resort of Llan-Llan, Bariloche and then on to Chile and its spectacular lakes and snowy peaks.

The last leg of the journey will be from Puerto Montt south by plane over the vast ranges and snowfields of Patagonia; Punta Arenas, the southernmost city of the world; Fort Bulnes; and across the way, Tierra Del Fuego, where the Andes dip into the cold sea.

Mrs. Milo Tigner is chairman of the Claremont Travel Film Series, assisted by Mrs. Wesley Leighton, ticket sales; Mrs. Roy Miller, treasurer; and Esther Ballew, Mrs. Charles Gill, Mrs. Earl Jones, Mrs. Jackson Niebrugge and Mrs. Stuart Wheeler, members.

Single tickets for "The Andes" may be purchased at the box office for each performance.

At Cal State Fullerton

Comedy, jewelry show set

The comedy, "The Skin of Our Teeth" and a jewelry exhibition by American artists are among entertainment scheduled this month at California State University, Fullerton.

Comedy

Pulitzer Prize playwright Thornton Wilder's comic tribute to the endurance and indestructibility of the human race, "The Skin of Our Teeth," Friday through Sunday will be staged and March 11-14 in the University Little Theater. "The Skin of Our Teeth" is the story of how human beings are constantly threatened with extinction and always survive, though often after a close brush with death, according to the play's director, Dr. Ronald K. Dieb.

"Although Wilder's theme is serious, he mixed past with present, reality with illusion, and farce with near-tragedy to create a theatrical entertainment which is anything but solemn," explained Dieb, associate professor of theater.

The plot concerns events in the life of a New Jersey family, but actually ranges over the entire experience of the human race from the Ice Age to a future war.

Pestilences, famines, floods and wars threaten the family with annihilation at every turn, but through all the calamities the family manages to survive and move forward.

Both certitude and hope emerge from "The Skin of Our Teeth," noted Dieb, as well as a satirical appraisal of limited accomplishments and infinite foolishness of people.

Performances are set for 8 p.m. except for a 5 p.m. curtain Sunday. For more information and ticket reservations call the campus box office, (714) 870-3371.

General admission is $2.50 and $2 for Cal State students. Group discounts are available.

More than 200 pieces of jewelry by American artists are now displayed in the University Art Gallery.

exhibit are: noon - 8 P.M. Monday, noon - 4 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 1-4 p.m. Sunday. The gallery is closed Saturday.

According to gallery Director Dextra Frankel, "Jewelers, U.S.A." has been arranged especially for the Cal State Art Gallery. It is the third in a series of six shows by U.S. artists in observance of the Bicentennial.

Jewelry works in a wide variety of materials will be shown. Most of the exhibits have established national and international reputations in their field. Others are newly emerging talents.

College drops music festival

The Claremont Music Festival, faced with mounting deficits and the resignation of the director, will not be held next summer, it has been announced by Dr. David Alexander, president of Pomona College, sponsors of the event since 1969.

"Despite the support from foundations, corporations and individuals," Dr. Alexander said, "Pomona College is unable to continue the large subsidies required by the festival." During 1975 alone, he pointed out, the festival required $38,740 in college funds, and since 1969 college subsidies have amounted to more than $125,000.

"We have reluctantly decided," Dr. Alexander added, that "the college cannot continue to justify this expenditure in relation to other educational needs on the campus."

Dr. Alexander also noted that the festival's director, Professor Giora Bernstein, has resigned from the college faculty to accept a permanent position as professor of music and director of orchestras at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Dr. Alexander did not speculate on the possibility that the festival might be resumed in some future year, but he did say "it is doubtful in these uncertain times that Pomona College by itself could renew the festival in another year without substantial new outside help."

Rivers lead into U.S. wilderness

Mark Twain, Lewis and Clark, John Wesley Powell... These vital men have passed into the annals of American history, but the rivers they explored remain as living testaments to the adventurous spirit that built the nation.

It is to the credit of modern-day river runner Lou Elliott that in the year 1976 there still are opportunities to venture into the wilderness and relive the experiences Mark Twain once wrote about.

Elliott is the founder and president of the American River Touring Association, which leads all kinds of people, from bankers to homemakers, on raft and canoe trips down many of the world's most historic waterways.

During the Bicentennial year, ARTA is offering a full program of trips on rivers like the Yellowstone in Montana; Idaho's Salmon and the Colorado in the Grand Canyon.

"In frontier days, the river led to civilization," explains Elliott, who founded ARTA as a non-profit organization 20 years ago. "Today the river leads back to the wilderness. First a water route to settlement and trade, the river is now a way back to nature."

On ARTA's trips, participants climb aboard Huck Finn-style rafts or voyageur canoes for smooth water explorations on rivers like the Sacramento and the Yellowstone or Lake Superior's Apostle Islands in the Midwest. White water trips in the West feature oar-powered rafts, propelled through rapids.

ARTA's guide, "The ARTA River Experience" is available free of charge by writing to ARTA, 1016 Jackson St., Oakland, Calif. 94607.

Light show

Morton Subotnick, a pioneer in the art of composition for light and sound, will present one of his electrifying concerts at Mt. San Antonio College at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 20 in the MSAC Social Science Center Auditorium.

Subotnick has been working with tape since 1960. His present involvement with mixed media employs simultaneous composition for various aspects of sound and light, including multi-screen films, strobes, traversing slide projections, lasers and computer-generated cinema.

He will demonstrate his newest design, a small Buchla synthesizer. In addition he will show his light-sound compositional techniques with lights, strobes, projectors and control devices.

Tax Tips

EDITOR'S NOTE: Tax Tips consists of information prepared by the California Society of Certified Public Accountants to help people prepare their federal income tax returns. The information is reprinted here as a public service.

Claim those exemptions
Are your sons or daughters in college, and are you helping them along by providing over one-half their support? Then, no matter how much they earn you get a dependency exemption for each of them if they were full-time students at a regular educational institution for at least five months of the year and if they do not file a joint return.

If they receive veteran's assistance or a student loan and the proceeds are used toward their support, those amounts would be counted as their contribution to their support. Amounts received as scholarships are ignored.

What if they are not in college, but you still generously provide more than one-half their support, can you get a dependency exemption for them?

Yes, if your child falls into one of two following situations:

Your child is under 19 years of age at Dec. 31, 1975.

Your child has less than $750 in gross income.

Filing requirements for children

Generally, a single individual must have gross income of $2,350 before a return need be filed.

However, in certain situations, a return must be filed when the gross income is only $750 or more. These situations are:

—The person is under 19 years old and his or her gross income includes any unearned income (for example, interest on a savings account);

The person is a student who qualifies as a dependent of his or her parents, and whose gross income includes any unearned income.

The return must be filed even though no tax is due or payable.

Avoid excessive 1976 withholding

If you expect large itemized deductions for 1976, you may reduce your withholding by claiming extra withholding allowances. To do so, file a revised Form W-4, Employees Withholding Exemption Certificate, with your employer.

You determine the number of these additional allowances by completing Form W-4, using the tables included in the form. The allowances for 1976 are based on the total of

The itemized deductions in your 1975 return (or your 1974 return if your 1975 return has not yet been filed), plus Determinable additional deductions for 1975.

These additional allowances remain in effect until you file a new W-4 with your employer because of a change in circumstances. You are required to file a new W-4 within 10 days if the number of withholding allowances previously claimed decreases.

Caution: Do not reduce withholding to such an extent that you under pay 1976 estimated taxes.

You and Your Pet

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.
Manager of Veterinary Services

Norden Laboratories
How are your veterinarians able to tell what is wrong with your pet? They make a diagnosis as a result of three distinct forces that helped make them the understanding professionals that they are. First is the formal training received in veterinary school. Second is the medical and surgical equipment they use — equal, in many ways, with that used in treating humans. And the third area is more difficult to define; it's their many years of experience in observing and treating pet diseases.

Medical advances are so rapid in the area of animal and pet care that veterinarians must read and study constantly. It has been estimated that five years after graduation, half of what the veterinarian learns in school is outdated.

When your pet becomes ill and you take it in for an examination, you may notice that your veterinarian uses his or her senses to help make an accurate diagnosis. Your veterinarian will look over your pet completely and may then listen for sounds, using a stethoscope. Even the sense of smell can be helpful in detecting abnormal odors on the animal, such as uremic odor of the breath, which could indicate a kidney problem. As a further aid, the veterinarian may use special instruments to check the pet's ears, eyes and throat.

After examining the pet in this manner, your veterinarian may have accumulated enough evidence to determine the cause of the problem. If the diagnosis is not clear, more tests will need to be made at this point; several diseases cannot be distinguished from one another on just history and physical examination.

These are numerous tests which you veterinarian may schedule in order to determine the exact nature of your pet's problem. Radiographs or X-rays are helpful in detecting broken bones as well as changes in the internal body structure — such as an enlarged liver or kidneys or the appearance of a tumor. Chemical tests can determine diabetes in cats and dogs. A complete blood count (CBC) is sometimes the surest way of making a positive diagnosis. And an electrocardiogram can detect heart problems in pets as it does in humans.

New surgical and physical techniques and new drugs for prolonging pet lives are constantly being discovered. This is the result of the combined efforts of researchers, veterinary practitioners, veterinary schools and pharmaceutical companies. Research is going on in every phase of animal health covering the scope of diseases — contagious and inherited — congenital defects and the various disorders that pets are susceptible to.

Your veterinarian has spent many years preparing to treat small animals. His or her intense formal training, broad experience and the medical and surgical equipment on hand are all there to help restore family pets to good health. So when your pet begins acting strangely or shows signs of illness, observe the symptoms closely. Be prepared to give detailed information to your veterinarian over the telephone, if necessary, before going in to his or her office.

Even though your dog or cat seems to be in the best of health, veterinary examinations are worthwhile every three months for a puppy or kitten and once a year for the grown pet. An older pet with less resistance to ailments and disease should be checked twice a year. These periodic examinations will detect problems in the earliest stages so that proper treatment can begin.

Perform a death-defying act.

Exercise regularly.

Planning advised

Families about to move to new communities because their breadwinners have been transferred to new jobs ought to plan ahead for financing home purchases, according to Herbert Hawkins, president of Herbert Hawkins Realtors.

Many employers have incorporated assistance with financing in their transfer program. But employees of companies that don't offer such programs may encounter difficulties in arranging mortgage financing in unfamiliar communities where they haven't established banking contacts, Hawkins said.

"Sale of a family's present home, to provide cash for the down payment on replacement housing is an obvious necessity for most families," said Hawkins. "An entree to a savings and loan association or other mortgage source in the family's new city is equally important."

RELO (Inter-City Relocation Service), the nation's leading real estate referral organization, which Hawkins represents, can help at both ends of a move, he pointed out.

The RELO member with whom a family has listed its home for sale will help provide the first requisite," Hawkins continued. In Southern California, Herbert Hawkins Realtors offers an equity loan program which allows families to borrow on the equity in their homes to have ready cash for immediate purchase of another home.

The destination RELO broker, to whom the family's housing needs are referred, has well established mortgage sources in the community where the family will relocate. His track record of having helped arrange hundreds of mortgages in good times as well as tight markets will benefit today's home-buyer.

"The head of a family about to move may be a stranger in his destination city or town. But the RELO broker there — one of more than 850 members whose offices market real estate in 8,000-plus communities — definitely is not a stranger," Hawkins said.

Close liaison involving listing and destination RELO members and the family itself provides the family with essential and detailed information about its community and the housing market well in advance of moving there. It also allows many house-hunting preliminaries — including

Good news for house owners

New homeowners in San Bernardino County will be receiving good news from the assessor this week.

County Assessor, Robert Herbin, is mailing forms this week to all new homeowners for them to file for their 1976 Homeowner's Exemption. Herbin said that a change in the Homeowner's Exemption law in 1975 requires only new property owners and residents who have not previously received the exemption to file a claim with the assessor by April 15.

Homeowners who received their exemption in 1975 will receive a notice around March 15 that the claim is on file and will not have to refile.

A person who owns his home and is living in it as his principal place of residence as of March 1 is eligible for the exemption of $1,750 assessed value.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of San Dimas, County of Los Angeles, State of California, hereby invites sealed proposals or bids for the construction and completion of sanitary sewers and appurtenances to be constructed in Allen Avenue, from Amelia Avenue to 600 feet east of Oakway Avenue, all in accordance with the plans and specifications on file in the office of the City Engineer of the City of San Dimas.

Said proposals or bids shall be delivered to the City Clerk of the City of San Dimas on or before 10:00 A.M. on the 17th day of March, 1976, at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, 245 East Bonita Avenue, San Dimas, California. The City Clerk will at said time, in open session publicly open, examine and declare said bids.

All proposals shall be accompanied by a check payable to the City of San Dimas, and certified by a responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than ten (10%) percent of the aggregate of the proposal or by a bond for said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double the said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions; or by a corporate Surety Bond to the satisfaction and approval of the City Council of the City of San Dimas, California.

The bid check, bond or Surety Bond of the successful bidder will be forfeited to said City in the event such successful bidder fails or refuses to enter into the required contract within 5 days after the written notice that said contract has been awarded to him for the work.

The successful bidder, simultaneously with the execution of the Contract Agreement, will be required to furnish a labor and materials bond in an amount equal to fifty percent (50%) of the contract price and a faithful performance bond equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price.

BIDDERS ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that, pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, said City Council has ascertained and determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and the general prevailing rate for legal holiday and overtime work in the locality in which said work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract for said work, and it will be required that no less than said rates be paid to all such workmen employed or engaged on the work. The rate so ascertained heretofore by the City Council of the City of San Dimas pertaining to the craft, classifications and type of workmen needed to execute this contract are available at the office of the City Clerk.

Addenda to Contract Documents
The Engineer may, from time to time, and without Board approval, issue addenda to the contract documents during the period of advertising for bids, for the purpose of clarifying or correcting special provisions, plans or bid proposal; provided, however, that any such addenda shall not materially change the original scope and intent of the project.

Purchasers of contract documents shall be notified of, and furnished with copies of, such addenda, either by certified mail or personal delivery, during the period of advertising for bids.

PREVAILING WAGE RATES
The Board of Supervisors of the Los Angeles County Flood Control District has ascertained the prevailing rate of per diem wages in dollars, based on a working day of eight hours, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute any construction contract which may be awarded by the Los Angeles County Flood Control District. The current prevailing wage rates are as adopted by the Board of Supervisors on June 15, 1975, including all subsequent rate changes adopted by the Board of Supervisors by resolution.

Living With Your Heart

'Denial syndrome'

By Glenn A. Langer
M.D., President
American Heart Association
Great Los Angeles
Affiliate

Anyone denying they are having a heart attack is putting their life on the danger line.

As a cardiologist, I find this "denial syndrome" still a menacing problem despite concentrated efforts by the local Heart Association to educate the public on the early warning signals of an attack and what prompt proper action to take.

While it is true there has been a significant decrease in deaths from coronary heart attacks, how many more lives could have been saved if only the warning symptoms had been heeded. The American Heart Association, Greater Los Angeles Affiliate, estimates that of the 32,300 deaths annually from heart attack in Los Angeles County alone, 8,000 of these deaths could have been avoided had there been no reluctance or fear on the part of the friend or patient to admit or heed symptoms.

There are varying reasons why persons may deny they are experiencing a heart attack. However, when a life is at stake, I can find no valid reason.

This "denial syndrome" has been identified by psychiatrists as a process that is actively at work in the mind of the threatened patient. He or she will grope for reasons for not taking positive action, such as "It must be indigestion," "I don't want to alarm anyone," "It'll go away soon, especially if I keep taking these pills." The reasons are numerous.

Too many people have the stereotyped image of a heart attack victim experiencing excruciating pain and collapsing almost immediately. Of course, some heart attacks do start this way, however, the majority begin in a much more subtle manner and the seriousness is not obvious. The fear of the consequences of a heart attack makes it difficult for patients to accept the real meaning of their symptoms. The need to deny is so strong that it is no surprise that educational measures are conveniently ignored. Ironically, this denial is reinforced by most people not realizing that if prompt action is taken and the heart attack is survived, there will probably be no disruption in the patient's lifestyle. I must emphasize that although heart attacks may kill, they rarely cripple. Most patients are able to return to their usual level of activity with little modification.

Recent research provides a constructive tool for overcoming this patient delay. Two independent, well documented studies have shown that many patients will reveal their symptoms to a companion long before professional help is called. More than half the patients "consulted" a friend within fifteen minutes of the onset of symptoms. More than 20

The Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising has announced the launching of its annual talent search. The school, a two year college accredited by AICS, specializes in training young people for careers in the fashion industry.

The "Designer of Tomorrow" contest is an annual, nation-wide search for the country's most gifted, young design talent. The competition is open to all 1976 high school graduates and older students interested in a fashion career. Participants compete for a $2,500 scholarship at the school and an all-expense paid European Study Tour.

Further information about the contest can be obtained by calling or writing Donna Smith at The Fashion Institute.

Arthritics need to 'reinvent'

By Becky Highstreet
Arthritis Foundation

Arthritis is best described as a product, and the label contains three ingredients. The form and initial severity of the disease are the raw materials, and according to the Arthritis Foundation, should be treated by a qualified physician. But the third ingredient, attitude, is controlled by the arthritic. By showing you how to adjust to daily activities, the following hints offer ways to improve that attitude.

Why not "reinvent" something? Just take an ordinary item, and reshape it to fit your particular purpose. An example is the recycling of discarded socks, which can be used as dusting mitts. The socks allow your fingers to remain extended while dusting. This acts as a mild form of exercise, and makes dusting a little easier.

Because arthritis often affects joints in the hands, getting a firm grip on things can be difficult. The simplest aid is a hair curler. Slip a foam rubber curler over a knife, fork or spoon handle and the utensil will be easier to hold. Wrap one around a pen or pencil, and the writing tool will be more comfortable to grasp.

Garments that require hand washing are often a source of trouble. But there is an easier way to get them clean. If you place the articles of clothing in a nylon net bag they can be machine washed. A delicate cycle will probably give the best results. The nylon net material can be purchased and made into a bag.

Fastening buttons is another task that might prove difficult when hands are sore. There is a product on the market, called Velcro, that takes the place of buttons and zippers. It consists of two strips of nylon, and by pressing the strips together, it fastens like burrs. When used in place of buttons, one strip should be sewn on in the button area. The second strip should be sewn on along the back side of the buttonhole. Zippers are replaced in the same manner. The first strip of Velcro should fit over the second when the facing is closed. In both cases, the Velcro should be pressed together while being washed.

"Reinventing" items and discovering those already designed for you can be fun. The important thing is, learning how to adapt your lifestyle to the ailment, you can make your attitude work for you.

Some of these hints are excerpts from a manual prepared by the Allied Health Professions Section of the Arthritis Foundation.

1. Worn, frayed or cracked areas of electrical extension or appliance cords can be safely repaired with adhesive tape.
☐ True ☐ False

2. Appliance service and instruction manuals are a form of advertising and may be thrown away when the appliance is installed or used.
☐ True ☐ False

ANSWERS

1. Provided as a by public safety service. False. The instruction manual contains important information. It should be studied and held for reference in case of trouble.
2. False. The instruction manual contains important information. It should be studied and held for reference in case of trouble.

per cent consulted a friend within an hour, but four hours passed before the same number consulted a physician or went to the hospital. This communication may serve to ease the anxiety regarding the warning signals without the need to admit fear. Also, there is a face-saving process if the friend takes the initiative. Remember that minutes count. Ideally, action towards seeking medical attention should commence within two minutes of onset of symptoms which indicate the possibility of a heart attack.

Another reason why denial may exist is a lack of knowledge of the symptoms. Here is what to do when you think someone is having a heart attack. The most important signal is a steady pressure in the center of the chest lasting two minutes or more.

Discomfort may spread to the arms, neck or jaw, but don't wait for this to occur. Remember, the victim may look completely well and may deny that the symptoms are serious.

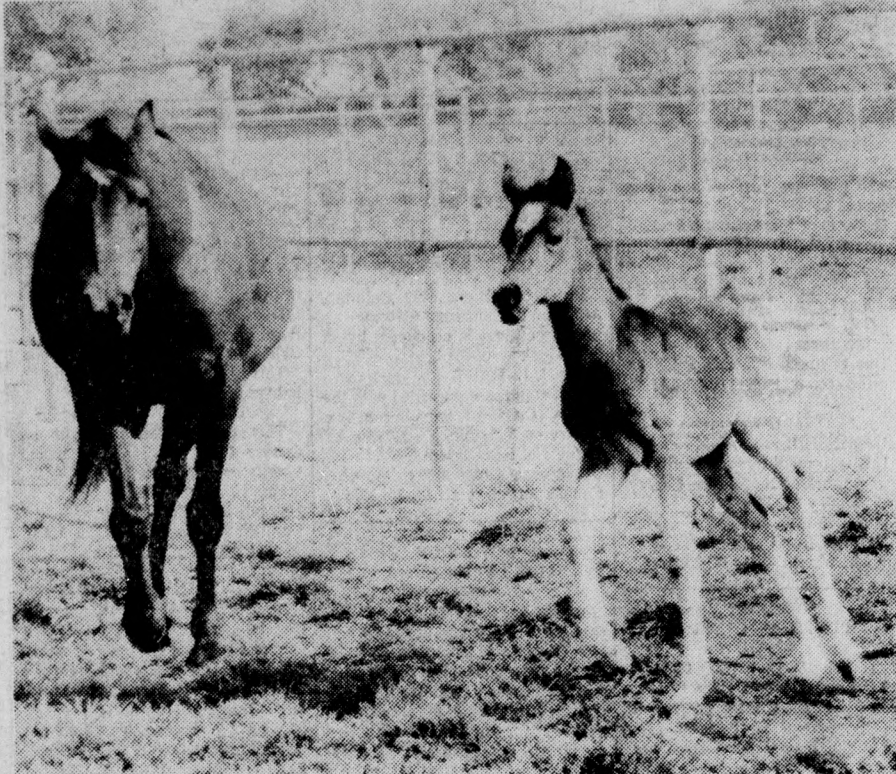

Next, respond immediately by reporting your suspicions to your local fire department rescue squad, or by driving the person to a hospital emergency room that meets Heart Association standards for emergency cardiac care. Do not wait for severe pain, shortness of breath, dizziness, fainting, sweating. Seconds count. Don't let them slip away.

Most heart attacks occur before the patient is under adequate medical management. In fact, one half the deaths occur in the first hour after the onset of symptoms before the patient is under medical care. By contrast, the event of sudden death can now almost always be reversed if the victim is under emergency care.

There are now 75 hospitals in the Los Angeles area that are committed to the high emergency heart care standards as set forth by the American Heart Association, Greater Los Angeles Affiliate. Their emergency rooms, expressly equipped to handle heart attack cases, are, of course, open 24 hours a day. More area hospitals will be added in the near future.

I recommend your writing or calling the American Heart Association, Greater Los Angeles Affiliate, 2405 W. Eighth St., Los Angeles, 90057, telephone (213) 385-4231, to request their free brochure, "Some People Would Rather Die Than Admit They're Having a Heart Attack." In it, you will find the list of 75 hospitals that meet the Heart Association's criteria for handling heart attack cases as well as instructions on what to do when you think someone is having a heart attack. This brochure is available in Spanish, also.

ARABIAN FILLY — The Spirit Seventysix is running around the pastures of California State Polytechnic University, Pomona. Born Jan. 1, this Arabian filly has been a regular feature 2 p.m. Sundays at the Cal Poly Arabian horse shows. The "of" between "spirit" and "seventy" and the hyphen between "seventy" and "six" had to be eliminated in the horse's name because the International Arabian Horse Registry puts a 17-letter-and-space limit on horse's names.
